THE EXCISE RAID.

What the Officials, Its Victims and the Public Think Of It.

ITS POLITICAL EFFECT.

Tammany Likely to Suffer From Police Zeal.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS STARTLED

They Did Not Know Their Subordinates Intended to Enforce the Law.

After twenty-four hours of mingled panic and indigaston the hour dealers have recovered their equilibrium, and like Don Carios, they have determined to reserve the future for themselves. Never before since the formation of the Metropolitan Police District, over twenty years ago, has any board of police commissioners had to encounter such a storm of criticism and contempt as has been poured since Sunday at noon upon the heads of Messrs. Smith, Er-hardt, Wheeler and Nichols. To say that the people who are engaged in the sale of beer, whiskey, brandy and other beverages are excited and disturbed about and other neverages are excited and disturbed above the eccentrically-managed raid of Sunday is to convey but a faint idea of the feeling manifested by the liquor-dealing fraternity. The arrest of 500 liquor dealers and their detention in the station houses during afternoon subsequently caused so much confusion the families of these persons that in many cases there was but little business done in the various liquor stores yesterday, the morning hour, like that in ngress, being devoted to discussion of the previous the German, Solavonian and Scandinavian peoples largely abound, and these peoples being devoted to their beer, feel very earnestly about the raid and do not hesitate to talk "bottom facts." Fully sixty per cent of the persons arrested belonged either to the feutonic or Sclavonic race.

In the matter of certain outrages committed by the police on semales who happened to be in the salcons when arrests were made bitter comments were heard on all sides, and it is more than probable that the officers who acted roughly will have to answer for it

All kinds of suggestions have been made and all sorts of reasons have been given as to the cause of the sudden raid. All the anti-Tammany men have recovered from their hoarseness resulting from expressed indignation on Sunday declare that the raid was made by direction of Mr. John

Then there are various other views beside the forgoing. Some of the liquor dealers, one notable in-stance being that of a prominent hotel keeper on Broadway, declared that it was partly owing to the combined influence in the Board of West Point drill and Puritan fanaticism. "And," said he, "when you get West Point and Puritanism combined can you have anything worse?

The general feeling throughout the city is decidedly gainst these Sunday raids and in favor of having the Police Commissioners to summon all offenders against the Excise law before them. If guilty then, the feeling is to fine them, but not to have any more of these sudden and summary police raids, so arbitrary in their nature and so useless in their effects.

THE FEELING AMONG OFFICIALS.

It was not unnatural to suppose that the action of the police on Sunday would be reflected in various ways at the Central Office yesterday. The liquor dealers of New York are a large and powerful body. They can do much in political matters, and many of them have a considerable number of henchmen, some collicians. Here was a grand opportunity to show now they would stand by their friends of the bottle and glass! It must be said that whatever obligations oliticians may be under to the latter gentletered against the furious raid made upon their friends but some kind of piedge had to be obtained for its non-recurrence. So the Central Office was througed yesterday with the political friends of the loud, diamond-bepinned proprietor of the fashionable (?) bar room, and of the more modest but not less ambitious master of the second rate corner gin mill. If one may believe the angry protestations of these cheesliers de po.titique it will go exceedingly hard with Tammany Hall in the next election.

It was of course presumed that no one would be able to give a better account of the reasons for Sunday's display of excessive zeal than the Police Commissioners themselves, so a Herald reporter waited upon General Smith in order to get that urbane gentleman's statement on the point.

GENERAL SMITH'S VIEWS.

"Was there," said the Herald man to General Smith, "any special condition of things in New York immediately before last Sunday to call for the unusually rigorous enforcement of the Sunday Liquor law by order of the Commissioners of Police?"

"The Commissioners gave no special orders for last Sunday any more than for any other Sunday."

"But I presume the Commissioners were aware that some very unusual vigilance was going to be exercised by the force on that day?"

"Not at all. The first news which I myself had of the very large number of arrests made yesterday was in this morning's papera."

"Then to what do you attribute this very marked increase of action on the part of the police?"

"If I have to speak for myself as President of the Board of Police Commissioners I should say that it is possibly due to the fact that I will not tolerate the Board of Police Commissioners I should say that it is possibly due to the fact that I will not tolerate the four duty possibly those in command over them would have to account for their shortcomings, too. The Police Commissioners have taken no special action in this matter, and it may have seemed good to those immediately over them to see that they performed their whole duty. Upon the details of the matter, I think the best man to give you information is Superintendent walling."

"What is your opinion, General Smith, with regard to the Sunday Liquor law as it stands; do you think it the best man to give you information is Superintendent Wailing."

What is your opinion, General Smith, with regard to the Sunday Laquor law as it stands; do you think it a good or a bad isse?

I have, of course, my own private opinion with repart to the law as it stands, and I do not say that it might not be advantageously modified; but with that question I, as a public functionary, have nothing to do. all I know is that there is a law prohibiting the sale of aquor in New York on Sunday; that the law has to be miorced; that it is the duty of the police captains and their subordinates to enforce it; that I am here to see them do their duty, and if the Legislature at Albany loid the people of New York they should not have water on Sunday my duty would be to see that water they did not get, and water they should not have. My convictions might be mortally opposed to any such legislation, but an act of the Legislature leaves me no discretion.

But their action is unprecedented—what is the son for it?"

ration for it?"
"You may remember that a charge was made lately painst two police captains for not enforcing the Sunsay Liquor law, and that the decision of the Board of ommissioners is still pending. It would not do to lot charges accumulate, so the captains made up their indist that no fault should for the future be found too bother."

in them."
"I suppose, under such circumstances, the liquor siers were tairly apprised of what was going to be the chief topic of conversation yesterday was the raid, and many forcible adjectives were employed in characterizing the action of the police authorities.

characterizing the action of the police anthorities.

MAYOR WICKHAM

stated that be knew nothing at all about the circumstances, except such details as he had read in the morning papers on his return from Long Island, where he went on Thursday. When informed that many persons, including Tammany addherents, felt that it would injure the party, he stated that he did not see how it could have that effect. The Police Board was non-partisan. When asked if he had consulted with them on the subject he answered in the negative.

"But, Mr. Wickham," said the reporter, "these Commissioners are appointees of yours, and it is claimed that rarely is a movement of this kind taken without conference with the Mayor."

conference with the Mayor."
"I suppose you know," he answered, "that the Mayor has no control over the heads of departments. I wish he had. Certainly I know nothing of the raid until I President Lewis (Tammany) said:-"The arrest of President Lewis (Tammany) said;—"The arrest of these people is a great hardship. Many of them are respectable persons. I am opposed to the law, which is a hard one. You cannot charge these wholesale arrests upon the democrats. The Commissioners found an obnoxious law passed by a republican Legislature, and they simply enforced it, as they are bound to do by their oaths of office."

and they simply enforced it, as they are bound to do by their oaths of office."

Onderman servan servan server of the offenders an outrage of the worst description. They were paying license in a respectable business, and it was manifestly unjust for a main in citizen's clothes to sueak in and arrest the proprietors while letting the employes go. "Tammany Hall is responsible for all of it. They appointed all the Commissioners of Police and Excise; and I say it is a great outrage. The dealers will combine and protect themselves against the raids of these officials. Tammany Hall is generally denounced, and men of that organization in the business declare them blamable. There is but one Commissioner (lift. Nichols) who yielded against his will to those arrests, I understand that on Saturday last the Excise Commissioners notified the Police Commissioners that they were powerless to enforce the law and asked them to do so."

ALDERMAN PURBOY (TAMMANY).

"The arrest of these parties was a flagrant outrage. I think it was done to show the liquor dealers that they had been too open in their violation of the law; but it won't last, and I am satisfied nothing permanent will be done."

won't lest, and I am satisfied nothing permanent will be done."

A REFUBLICAN ALDERMAN, who would not permit bis name to be used, attributed the raids to a fear, on the part of the police, of discipline by the Police Commissioners if they failed to caloree the law. "They are afraid," he said, "ol Ehrharit, charman of the Committee on Ruies and Discipline, and hence they have made these descents to place themselves right."

ALDERMAN JOHN RIELLY (TARMANY)
denounced the arrosts as among the greatest outrages ever perpetrated upon a free people. "There are thousands of mechanics and laborers," he said, "who never have any time except on Sanday to take any recreation. A great many laws are made that are never carried out in spirit and this odious Excise law is one of them. I think the better class of the people are satisfied to leave the enforcement or non-enforcement. of the law entirely in the hands of the Excise Commission, and think the Police Commission should not interfere. I was at the Excise Board this morning, and they think it was as great an outrage as any of us do, If the matter of the enforcement of the law was left to a popular vote of the people four-fifths of them would be against it. Tammany Hall is universally against it, and the only representative they have in the Police Board (Nichols) opposed the raids in the interest of this odious Excise law."

Ex.Alderman Shandley (Tammany) thought that the Sunday raids would not help the democratic party, and would especially damage Tammany Hall it was outrageous to enforce a law aimost obsolete. There is a democratic Mayor, who appointed the Excise and Police Commissioners, and the people will hold him and his party to a strict accountability for these arrests.

Alderman Hess (republican) denounced the raids as and his party to a strict accountability for these arrests.

Alderman Hess (republican) denounced the raids as outrageous. The democratic Mayor is always consulted on movements of this nature, and the majority in the Excise and Police Boards are appointees of the Mayor and the democratic party. Mr. Hess expressed the belief that the strests would be continued every Sunday during the summer.

ALDERMAN SERRY (FAMMANY).

"It is the most outrageous transaction ever perpetrated upon a people, and we have not seen the last of it. The Police Board, and not the Excise Commissioners, are directly responsible. The effect was to close up all the respectable places and allow the low ones to de business. I have been in the business fifteen years and have always paid my city and United States incenses and obeyed the law, although I am opposed to it."

ALDERMAN KHENAN (TAMMANY).

States heenees and obeyed the law, atthough I am opposed to it."

"It is a villanous outrage, I say, for I am in the business and know all about it."

ALDREMAN FINCENET (REPUBLICAN).

"I haven't given the matter much attention yet. I can't understand this new born zeal of the Police Commission yet. They have been in power some time, and it appears to me they are late in beginning the work of arrests. There has always been, within my recollection, a law promibiting the sale of liquors on Sunday. Fernando Wood, when Mayor, and at the head of the municipal police, made just such a "appurt" as this; still of late years they have not enforced the law. This law has for years been on the statute books, as I understand it, and when the democratic party controlled the Executive controlled the Executive control of the Levingharpe it was not repealed. No discontinuous and the Levingharpe it was not repealed.

"I do not believe," said Judge Morgan, "that spas-modic efforts on the part of the police will do any good. Men who carry out the law should act in good faith and require every person in that business to close on Sunday, completely and absolutely, so that it could not be said that one class of men have privileges over

JUDGE KASMIRE'S IDEAS.

Judge Kasmire thought that when an officer discovered any violation of the law he should obtain a warrant for the arrest of the offender, who should be immediately arreated and punished without delay the same as any other lawbreaker. Delay in the punishment of offenders against the law tends to a disregard of its requirements, and this is just what has occurred with regard to the Excise law. It is also a great mistake, he thought, to permit policemen to assume the character of spies and informers against citizens. That, he thought, was only calculated to make a mockery of justice.

WHAT JUSTICE MURRAY THEMS.

he thought, was only calculated to make a mockery of justice.

WHAT JUSTICE MURRAY THIMER.

Judge Murray was yesterday apoken to by a Herald reporter, and he frankly admitted that he thought the raid on the inquer dealers was altogather unjustifiable as a party measure. If it were one he thought it was most impolitic. "Fernando Wood," said he, "was a man and a politician. He tried the same thing years ago and did not meet with much success; and Jo n A. Kennedy, who was a thorough police officer, tried it, and only succeeded in making himself a target for attack from all quarters. I think this raid will turn a great many people against the present powers that be, for ninety-live men out of a hundred that I have apoken to to-day seemed to treasure it up as something that had yet to be accounted for."

A reporter for the HERALD visited the most prom nent houor saloons yesterday for the purpose of ascer-taining the sentiment of the dealers in relation to the raid. Without exception they were found to be greatly incensed at what they call the "job" sprung upon them by the Folice Commissioners without a moment's Everywhere there seemed to be a strong centiment in favor of united opposition of the dealers to the action of the Police and Excise boards. Two or three of the larger dealers declared that they were rejoiced at the conduct of the police on Sanday, for they now think they see an opportunity for the final and definite settlement of the question of they now think they see an opportunity for the final and definite settlement of the question of seiling beer on the Sabbath. These men were extremely bitter toward District Attorney Phetps for not giving them a chance to be tried in court, and in this way have some conclusion arrived at. "Time and again we have been arrested and taken before a police justice, where we are cither fined or discharged with a reprimand, which latter almost crushes us, you may be sure. We want Mr. Phelps to have us indicted by the Grand Jury and thus give us an opportunity to meet these would-be plous folk in a court competent to render a decision that will either result in our closing uniformly up on Sunday or will compet the police to keep their hands off. Does any one suppose that 500 or 600 men are going tamely to submit to being gobbled up whenever it pleases the police, and either head to bail or locked up over night? If so, they are greatly mistaken."

"Under a democratic District Attorney we were never given sny trouble," observed a leading dealer on the west side; "and when the next election comes around we will see what can be done by the liquor dealers. As a class we have a great deal more influence that many suppose, and, what with the proper exercise of this power and the liberal use of money—and we have noney—we will put men in office who will not resort to any mean trick or the springing of any sharp games upon any class of the community."

Mayor Wicklam, too, came in for a good share of abuse. He was present, together with John Kelly, at the joint meeting of the Police and Excise boards wheat the question of ranting upon the saloan keepers came up, and if he did not openly approve of the matter ne certainly did not exert himself to prevent the "ourrage." This is the gist of the expressions in regard to the Mayor, Judging from the statement made by a great magnerity of those visited, it is very clear that the between and any amount of money necessary will be forthcoming, and

THE PRISONERS AT THE BAR. The parties arrested on Sunday night for violation of the Excise law who were unfortunate enough to be locked up over night were arraigned at the various police courts yesterday. After the rush on Sunday business was comparatively dull, but the police clerks had their hands full, and did not leave work for some had their hands full, and did not leave work for some time after the regular hours. As was expected, there were a large number of friends of the prisoners congregated about the police courts, and as soon as they were disposed of there was a rush as to who should be the first to give bail. Justice Smith, after disposing of about a dozen cases of intexication and disorderly conduct, called up Kunigunde Lubking, of No. 31 Grand street. The prisoner was a middle aged woman, dressed in black and heavily veiled. Officer John O'Brien, of the Eighth precinct, made the complaint, and stated that he saw the prisoner expose and sell liquor. The prisoner, on being brought to the bar, refused to lift her veil till forced to do so by the Court.

Among the persons arrested on Sunday was Patrick J. Mahony, of No. 264 West street. Mr. Mahony was standing in front of his store, when Captain Caffrey, accompanied by two officers, approached, and one of the policemen rapped on the door. Mr. Mahony said to him, "Thère is no use of rapping, that place is closed." The officer, whose name is Wells, then said, "The hell it is! Well, I guess I'll take you in anyway,

"The hell it is! Weil, I ghess I'll take you in anyway, as I think there is somebody inside."

The unoflending Mahony, with an inoffensive friend, named Jeremiah Lyons, was walked off to the Leonard street station house and locked up in a ceil. At a late hour Mrs. Mahony called and asked to see her husband, but her request was met with sneers and insulis from the sergeant in charge. She was refused admittance, and when Mr. Mahony, who had been Informed of her coming, expostulated at being refused permission to see her, he was thrown to the ground api brutally treated. Yesterday morping Mahony and Lyons were arraigned before Justice Murray in the Tombs Police Court. The prisoners were accorded a hearing after the officers had made their charge. When the statements on both sides had been made Judge Murray said, in a very severe ione, to the officers, "Both you and your captain have exceeded your daty. Your conduct in this case has been simply disgraceful. I will instruct Mr. Mahony to proceed against you before the Folice Commissioners. If this thing occurs again I will make trouble for you. The arrest was decidedly arbitrary. Prisoners, you are discharged."

In our list of persons held in bail on Sunday by Justice Morgan, at Essex Market Police Court, appeared the name of Arthur Blancy, No. 422 Broome street. Some mischievous person must have given the name, as Mr. Blancy is not a liquor dealer, and he is the sole occupant of the premises mentiones.

MINISTERS' CONFERENCES.

THE METHODISTS ON CAMP MEETINGS AND BAPTISTS ON THE INTERMEDIATE STATE. BAPTISTS ON THE INTERMEDIATE STATE.

The nearness of the camp meeting season gave the Methodist preachers a good opportunity and excuse yesterday for the discussion of this phase of modern Methodism. Mr. Joel Sammis, a member of the Executive Committee of Sing Sing camp meeting, being present, was invited to speak. He did so, with special reference to Sing Sing, which he said had been so crimled by

ROUND LAKE, OCEAN GROVE, BEA CLIFF and other piaces of recreation that four years ago he advised the sale of the ground at Sing Sing. It was put to a vote, and nine out of fifteen members of the advised the sale of the ground at Sing Sing. It was put to a vote, and nine out of fitteen members of the Executive Committee of Sing Sing declared in favor of continuing this meeting, and a comfortable lodging house was built and other improvements made. The trustees had this year invited Rev. Dr. Ives, of Auburn, to take charge of the meeting, and they expected a good spiritual time. They had fixed the time of meeting for July 25.

Rev. Mr. Lloyd asked Mr. Sammis a question which set the bail in rapid motion, and which touched a thought that lay beneath the surface—namely, is Dr. Ives to be paid for his services at the camp meeting? The pertunency of this inquiry will be understood when it is known that Dr. Ives charges for his services at church dedications and other occasions, and he would not come from Auburn to without the assurance of pay. Hence Mr. Sammis was obliged to confress that the Doctor expects to have all his expenses paid and to receive some other compensation besides, the amount not being determined, as the correspondence had not closed. Thereupon Mr. Lloyd gave notice to the Camp Meeting Committee, through its representative, that he should not preach at Sing Sing unless he was paid for his services also, and he hoped no other preacher in New York or Brooxlyn would do it. He though it was invidous to the presiding elders and preachers of the New York and East conferences to import a minister from another conference to preside over a meeting in which New York and Brooklyn ministers are expected to officiate. Dr. Roche summed up his remarks by saying that if the meeting is to be purely spiritually of the meeting is gone. The discussion was continued by Revs. Dickinson, Goss, Bouton, B. M. Adams, Mickles and others, some of whom decemed the form which the discussion had taken mapertinent toward the Camp Meeting is gone. The discussion was continued by Revs. Dickinson, Goss, Bouton, B. THE PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS-DISCUSSIONS ON HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION OF PAS-TORS, EDUCATION AND OTHER INTERESTS OF

THE CHURCH. At the opening of proceedings in the Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday the appeal of Rev. E. Bailey Smith from the action of the Presbytery of Westchester was received and referred to the Judicial Committee. It will be remembered that a couple of years ago this Presbytery dismissed Mr. Smith for holding heretical sentiments in that he believed there are still the order of aposties in the Church, and that they have the power of working miracles as in the early days of Christianity. The name "Pan"-Fresbyterian Alliance was changed in the minutes by the omission of the first word, Dr. Prime insisting that no such body existed, and he hoped never would, as that described by the word Pan. The following resolution, offered by Dr. Prime, was adopted, and himself and Dr. Brecken-ringe and Elder Hand were appointed the committee called for by the resolution:—

Resolved, that a committee of three he appointed to make the necessary arrangements for this purpose.

Rev. Dr. Prime said there were several persons connected with the Assumbly who had seen oignt-tenths and others one-half of the century that had passed with whom they could unite.

THE ORDER OF THE DAY

was then called and the report of the Committee on Education was presented by Dr. Cattell. The report stated that 222 theological, 218 collegiate and 18 academical students—a total of 458—are receiving aid from the Board. They represent 39 States and 133 prespyteries. This shows a falling off of 38 from last year and 92 from the number who two years ago were studying for the ministry. The contributions of the churches are not encouraging, though the receipts ($72,040 97) were an advance of $1,861 83 upon the previous year's receipts. The debt of $10,000 remaining on the Board was paid off by cutting down the amount of and paid to students from $150 to $120. Of the 458 students receiving aid minety-one are new recommendations of presbyteries and 397 are old. The number of German, Portuguese and other loreign students is thirty-Bvc; of Weish Calvinistic, eight. There are forty-Bvc colored students. The recommendations and the report were adopted.

The cause of home missions and sustentation was then taken up a fine of the five of the first of the

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon, of Pierrepont street, sent a very cordual invitation to the Assembly and such ladies as they desired to bring, and all the ministers of Brooklyn who could attend a social entertainment at their house on Friday evening. The invitation was very promptly accepted.

SABBATH SCHOOL CELEBRATION. The most successful parade of Sunday school chil-

The most successful parade of Sunday school chil-dren ever held in Jersey City took place yesterday. Over 5,000 children were in line. At fitteen minutes before two o'clock the children assembled in their re-spective churches, where the anniversary exercises were held. The churches were handsomely decorated and the children were tastefully attired, the girls being dressed chiefly in white. Many of them bore bouquets. The Ninth Regiment Band took the head of the procession and a plateon of police led the way. At three o'clock the procession moved along Jersey avenue in the following order: —First division—Hedding Methodist Episcopal church and Third Presbyterian Sunday schools, Second Reformed church school and Wayne street mission, Tabernacle First Presbyterian German mission and Trinity Methodist Episcopal schools; First Baptits and First Reformed schools. Second division—Park Reformed Centenary Methodist Episcopal, North Baptits, Second Presbyterian, Second division—African Methodist Episcopal, Second division—African Methodist Episcopal, Second division—African Methodist Episcopal, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second division—the Baptits, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second division—the Baptits, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second division—the Baptits, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second division—the Baptits, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, North Baptits, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second division—Hedding Methodist Episcopal, Second division—Hedding Methodist Episcopal, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second Methodist Episcopal, North Baptits, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, North Baptits, Maul's Methodist Episcopal, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second Presbyterian, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, Second Presbyterian German Methodist Episcopal, North Baptits of N

At the first of these services, being Ascension Day, the sermon will be preached by the rector, the Rev. Morgan Dix, and the following nussical programme will be given at the eleven o'clock morning service:—Organ sonata, Ritter: "Processional March from the Crusaders." Dr. Hiles; Gounod's Communion Service. "Your Harps and Cymbals Sound," Handel; Histh Paslim, Mendelssohn; Schubert's Cinajor sympnony. The music will be rendered by an augmented choir under Mr. Messiter, a full orchestra under Mr. Carter and the great organ in the hands of Mr. Le Jeune and Mr. Henry Carter.

WALTER SHERIDAN'S "IDENTIFICA-TION."

In reference to the effort made by Mr. Bangs to have Walter Sheridan, alias Ralston, the great bond forger, identified by the President of the Safe Deposit Company as having a safe in that institution under another name, Sheridan yesterday said to a HERALD reporter, The mere idea of such a thing is preposterous. This "The mero idea of such a thing is preposterous. This gentleman picked out Mike Shannon, a river thiref, as being myself. Now, without reflecting on Mr. Shannon in the least, no two men could be more dissimilar in appearance than be and I. If I were cashier of a country bank and Shannon were to enter the place I should at once say, Take all I have, but don't hurr me,' and you know that's not my style. In fact, I am glad the chort at my identification has turned out so, for I think Shannon will be one of the best witnesses I can have. Any jury that can look on Shannon and myself and find that I am Raliston, when Shannon has been identified as that person, will be possessed of but poor powers of discrimination."

· WHO KILLED FELIX WING?

TWO ALLEGED ACCESSORIES TO A MURDER RE-LEASED ON BAIL AND AN UNFORTUNATE WIT-NESS IMPRISONED.

Coroner Woltman held an inquest vesterday afteron in the case of Felix Wing, of No. 113 Mulberry street, the ex-convict, who was killed during a fight in Martin Reynolds' liquor store, at No. 205 Grand had promptly arrested Patrick J. Spellman and Martin Reynolds, who were charged with the murder of Wing, and they were both brought to the Coroner's office in charge of officers.

Edward Brown, bartender in Reynolds' salcon, was first called. He said that he left the place at ten minuter past nine on Saturday night; could not say who were there then; at twenty minutes to six o'clock he saw Captain Allaire and an officer force an entrance who were there then; at twenty minutes to six o'clock he saw Capiain Allaire and an officer force an entrance into the house; they arrested Reynolds and himself; there was blood in iront of the bar; witness was not acquainted with the decrased, but had heard that there had been a row in the saloon.

Michael Goodwin was the next witness. He testified to haging been in the saloon on Saturday night; Spellman was there, but went out and did not return before witness left, which was at hall-past one o'clock.

Matthew Connor, who had been detaned as a witness, said that he went to the saloon in company with Feix Wing about two o'clock on Sunday morning; while there witness had a fight with a man and left the saloon; Wing was still tiere and so were Spellman and Reynolds; Wing was intoxicated; heard of Wing's death about eight o'clock on Sunday morning; while in the saloon saw Spellman strike Wing; Reynolds was behind the bar; Wing and Spellman got into a discussion as to which could beat the other; Spellman pushed Wing to the bar and either struck him or attempted to do so; did not see any weapon.

The testimony of Deputy Coroner Joseph Cushman is as follows:—I made an autopsy on the body of Felix Wing at the Fourteenth precinct station house Sunday, May 21; on external examination I found a scalp wound on the left side of the nead, four inches behind the left enf, over the parietal bone; the wound was lacerated and contused, extending to the bone and two inches in length; immediately behind this wound there was another an inch and a half long; opening the skull I found extravasation of blood over the surface and base; the ventricles of the brain also contained extravasations of blood; the heart, lungs and abdominal viscora were in a normal condition; death was caused by compression of the brain from extravasation or blood upon it, due to external violence.

Spellman, the allegod assailant of Wing, was put upon the stand, but, as his counsel told nim not to make any statement, no evidence could be choited from him.

THE BULL-HUSSEY TRAGEDY.

viewed the body of Michael H. Hussey, the machinist's helper, who was killed by his employer, Henry C. Bull, during a souffle in front of the residence of the letter, No. 8 Nassau atreet, on Sunday night, and committed the latter to jail. W. Haley and Joel T. Conover are held as witnesses.

SUICIDE OF A STEAMSHIP OFFICER.

The second lieutenant of the French steamship Amérique, Jean Baptiste Guesnon, was missed from his post of duty yesterday morning on the vessel. His stateroom door being found fastened on the inside it was broken open. Licutenant Guesnon's body was and the head was sunk under a little table opposite the berth. A large revolver was under the dead man's right hand.

In the afternoon Coroner Croker, accompanied by his deputy, Dr. MacWhinnie, went to pier 43 North River, where the steamship lay, and held the inquest, The deceased was thirty-five years old. He had acted strangely for several days before he killed himself, and was evidently out of his mind. He had recently lost some money in Cochin China, the news of which he had received just previous to the departure of L'Amérique from Havre. Dr. MacWhinnie examined the wound in Lieutenant Guesoon's head, and found that the ball, which was very large, had passed entirely through the brain. The jury brought in a verdict of "auticide while laboring under temporary insanity."

THE RIVER'S DEAD.

An unknown man, about thirty-five years old, was found in the East River, at pier 37, yesterday morning.
Another unknown man, about forty-five years old, was found in the East River, at the foot of Market street, yesterday morning. The body had evidently been in the water a long time.
